

THE TRIBUNE.

Lecture of John Quincy Adams before the Boston Lyceum.
Correspondence of The Tribune.

The usual season for popular Lectures, under the direction of the various Literary and Scientific associations which exist in our city, has again occurred; and last evening, agreeably to a previous announcement, the Hon. JOHN QUINCY ADAMS delivered the introductory Address before the Boston Lyceum. The doors of the Odeon were thrown open an hour before the time appointed for the Lecture, but not until hundreds had gathered in the street impatiently waiting for entrance; and that spacious building was crowded in every part by one of the most fashionable and intelligent audiences that ever convened within its walls. The desire to see the venerable old Patriot, and listen to his tremulous but powerful eloquence, increases with his advancing years and with the weight of honors conferred upon him by a grateful and confiding people. On his entrance, the whole assembly rose as a testimony of their respect and veneration for the man who has rendered such signal and important service to his Country, and whose private character, amid all the temptations and allurements of public life, has been stained by no vice.

Mr. Adams was introduced to the Assembly in some preliminary observations by the Hon. ARNOLD LAWRENCE, President of the Lyceum; and when he stood up to address the people, was received with rapturous applause. He said the highly flattering remarks by the President had placed him in a very embarrassing position. It did not become him who put on the harness to boast himself as he that put it off. It was his duty now to put on the armor, but he feared there would be small occasion for boasting when he should take it off.

Mr. Adams then took a manuscript from his pocket, and proceeded to read the Lecture which he had prepared for the occasion. His subject was thus stated: "The Nature and Design of the Social Compact, or the True Foundation of Human Government." I shall not attempt to give you a sketch, much less a report, of his remarks, which were rather too abstract for a popular assembly. The subject is one of the most intricate that ever tasked the powers of the human mind, involving, as it does, the whole question of the rights and duties of rulers and the ruled, and the merits and demerits of every form of governmental organization on the face of the earth. His subject, to which a volume could hardly do justice, is of such magnitude as almost to appal common minds, and I do not think it well adapted to develop the peculiar and shining qualities of Mr. Adams's intellectual powers, nor to kindle the fires of that eloquence for which he is so justly celebrated. I think the high-spirited expectations of the audience were far from being satisfied; and that the fame of one whose reputation as a profound thinker had not been established upon an enduring basis would have been somewhat dimmed by such a performance. I am aware that the expression of such a sentiment respecting one of the masters of the age may seem presumptuous in me, all untitled and unknown to fame as I am; but I have spoken with all freedom the sentiment of my own heart, and I doubt not that of hundreds who heard him. What I have said, however, does not respect so much the soundness or unsoundness of the propositions advanced by Mr. Adams, as it does the arguments, illustrations and analogies by which he attempted to support them.

The lecture was strictly Conservative, and embodied some fair bits at the vaunted Democracy of the times. He said that the phrases "whole people," "the people," &c., as used in our Constitutions, were to be understood as including, not every man, woman and child in the community, but only that portion of the people who were capable of entering the body politic and bearing its responsibilities. He maintained that by the law of nature woman is subject to her husband, and that the latter is the rightful representative of the former, and of his minor children in framing the social compact. He said that our form of government was not a Democracy, in the sense in which that term was used by a party, any more than it was a Monarchy; and this he illustrated by the provisions of the Constitution of Massachusetts. If he were permitted to designate the name by which the party of his choice should be known, he would call it the Constitutional party, and its object should be to maintain the Constitution inviolate.

I expected and so did others, when Mr. Adams opened his subject, that he would bring the Rhode Island question under review; but he made no allusion to it whatever. If it were safe, however, to draw an inference from the general character and bearing of his remarks, I should say that he has no sympathy with the movements of the suffrage party; but I see it confidently stated in the New Bedford Register, on the authority of a gentleman who conversed with him on the subject a few days ago, that he avows himself of the opinion that Dorr is the legitimate Governor of the State.

You will be glad to learn, as you will before this reaches you, that Mr. Adams has been nominated as the Whig candidate in the new District to which he is attached by the law of the State under the new apportionment. No doubt can exist of his election by a triumphant majority. HANCOCK.

ALABAMA TAXES.—Governor Fitzpatrick has issued a circular addressed to the county court judges throughout the State, requesting to be informed of the amount of taxation, expenditures and indebtedness of each county, with a detailed account of all the objects of taxation, and the amount separately raised from each, for several years past. It is to enable the Legislature to act intelligently on the subject of direct taxation, which in his circular he describes as likely to form one of the subjects for the consideration of the next Legislature.

A THOUSAND MILES IN A THOUSAND HOURS.—Thomas Elworthy, the pedestrian, completed his feat of walking one thousand miles in a thousand consecutive hours, at Cambridge, near Boston, yesterday morning at 4 o'clock, and still continued walking his mile an hour, with the intention of not stopping till 5 o'clock in the evening. This is the second time, we believe, that this feat has been accomplished. The first time it was done by Capt. Barclay, in England.

HEALTH.—In the Charity Hospital for the 24 hours up to last evening, 18 patients were admitted, 6 with the yellow fever; 12 were discharged cured, 7 of yellow fever; 4 died, 1 of cholera, 1 of typhoid fever, 1 of typhus, 1 patient was admitted, of yellow fever, 2 were discharged, cured of the same disease. In the Malouin de Saens, no one was admitted, discharged or died.

AN ARRANGEMENT has been made between the Housatonic and Western Railroad Companies for the transportation of freight and passengers between New-York and Albany during the winter. This arrangement is highly satisfactory to both companies. We have authority also to assure the public that the Berkshire Road will be finished and the line opened to Albany on the first Monday in November next, without fail.

SPINNING.—Mrs. Joseph Ingalls of Keene, N. H., upon the other day, on a common wheel, 120 knots of woolen yarn in 12 hours, and reeled it on a hand reel, and finished off the day's labor with various other house work. Beat this who can, ladies young or old. [Keene Republic.]

Literary Notices.

OLD HUMPHREY'S OBSERVATIONS. Third Edition. New-York, Robert Carter, 58 Canal-st. and 101 Foknot-st.

This is the title of a collection of "observations" on ordinary matters, with which persons come in contact almost daily. It is intended for the use of the young, and will afford them much rational and instructive entertainment. "Traveling," "Human Voice," "Discipline," "Visiting," &c. &c. are the subjects of some of the articles, from which the general character of the whole may be inferred. These are mingled with Sketches, Anecdotes, &c. in a very pleasing manner. The style is chaste and simple, and the work is calculated to be of essential service to those for whom it is intended.

OLD HUMPHREY'S ADDRESSES. By the Author of Old Humphrey's "Observations." Robert Carter, 58 Canal-st.

This little work is similar in character to the other; it has in view the same object—the instruction and entertainment of the young, and it reaches it by nearly the same means—pleasant, simple discourses on the ordinary subjects of every day life. There are few young persons who will not easily find something in its pages to please and instruct them.

THE CATHOLIC EXPOSITOR and Literary Magazine for this month has a most striking Portrait of Rev. JOHN POWER, D. D., accompanied by a fervid poetical tribute to his merits by J. A. Shea, Esq. Original articles on "The Society of Jesus," "Voltaire's Life," "Irish Scenes, Ruins and Rites," &c. &c. cover 64 pages. This number commences a volume.

HARRY LEYDEN.—A very pleasing and instructive tale, with this title, has just appeared from the pen of a gentleman of this city, whose leisure hours, from professional avocations, find enjoyment in literary pursuits, and the cultivation of congenial tastes. The object of this tale is reached through a path of delightful narrative, opening here and there into bright vistas of cheerful episode, which render it a fruitful exercise for the student or mere reader. It is sold at Dunegan's, 115 Fulton-street.

WANTED.—A young Protestant woman to attend children and as a seamstress in a family. Apply at No. 142 Pine-street.

TWO OR THREE Young Men can be accommodated with Breakfast and Tea or full board and pleasant rooms in a small private family, North of Canal-street, in a pleasant part of the city—Dunham's passing every day by the cars. Two or three students of medicine would find it to their advantage, as they could have access to a Physician's Office and books free of charge. Address C. B. Tribune Office, No. 11.

FOR NEW ORLEANS.—Wanted a young man from 25 to 30 years of age, who is well educated and desires to study a mercantile course. Address R. W. P. Park Post Office, No. 47.

INFORMATION WANTED.—The anxious feelings of a sister living in Canada, wishing to hear from her only sister, PHEBE YOUNG, that lived in New York City in 1820, at Hudson-st. and Broadway, in New York. Any information respecting her, or her whereabouts, or her health, or her family, or her friends, will be gratefully received by Peter S. Tins, No. 2 Allen-st., New York, who will transmit the same to her sister.

THE LADY dressed in black who passed yesterday at Five o'clock, Confronted Bill on the James' Bank, yesterday, in Amsterdam, is requested to return a good bill through the Post Office, addressed "Tribune Office," or she will be liable to a fine of $100, and to be imprisoned for the same. BRONCHITIS. Disease of the Throat and Lungs, which is annually sweeping thousands upon thousands of our countrymen, and is the most common cause of premature grave, under the mistaken name of Consumption, is always cured by JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT. The symptoms of this disease are, Spitting up of Phlegm or mucus, sometimes Blood. It is an inflammation of the fine skin which lines the inside of the whole of the windpipe, and sometimes of the lungs. This Expectorant immediately suppresses the Cough, Pain, Inflammation, Fever and Difficulty of Breathing, and produces a free and easy expectoration. It is sold at wholesale and retail by the Agents, A. B. & D. SANDS, Druggists, No. 72 Fulton-st., corner of Gold-st., and 100 Fulton-st., also sold by David Sands & Co. No. 77 East Broadway, corner of Market-st.; and by Abraham B. Sands & Co. No. 273 Broadway (Granite Building) corner of Chambers-st.

IMPORTANT NEWS from Providence. JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT TRIUMPHANT! A Card—I give the following facts, that all interested may be benefited by the operation.

I am sixty-four years of age, have been for ten years severely afflicted with a chronic cough, and have tried every remedy, and taken many "cures" of great expense and without any essential advantage. For two years I was unable to pass the whole of a night, and my health was so much impaired, that I was unable to do any kind of business. I have taken Dr. JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT, and I have been cured. I can now do any kind of business, and I am free from the cough, pain, inflammation, fever and difficulty of breathing, and I am free from the cough, pain, inflammation, fever and difficulty of breathing.

THE SOLID EXTRACT OF SARAPARILLA, prepared by Dr. Otto Rottum, has proved itself a very valuable specific in cases of Scrophulous, Rheumatic and Catarrhal diseases, particularly of the Throat, Lungs, Skin, and Genitals. The EXTRACT is also far superior to any other Extract of Sarsaparilla ever before prepared. It is sold at wholesale and retail by the Agents, A. B. & D. SANDS, Druggists, No. 72 Fulton-st., corner of Gold-st., and 100 Fulton-st., also sold by David Sands & Co. No. 77 East Broadway, corner of Market-st.; and by Abraham B. Sands & Co. No. 273 Broadway (Granite Building) corner of Chambers-st.

NEWS FROM DOWN EAST.—From a respectable merchant of Eastport, Me., Aug. 12th, 1841. "I have been using JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT, and I have been cured. I can now do any kind of business, and I am free from the cough, pain, inflammation, fever and difficulty of breathing, and I am free from the cough, pain, inflammation, fever and difficulty of breathing."

WORKS IN CHILDREN.—Of all diseases to which children are exposed, none are so fatal as those which attack the Throat and Lungs. These diseases are caused by a cold, or by a fever, or by a combination of the two. They are always cured by JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT. The symptoms of these diseases are, Spitting up of Phlegm or mucus, sometimes Blood. It is an inflammation of the fine skin which lines the inside of the whole of the windpipe, and sometimes of the lungs. This Expectorant immediately suppresses the Cough, Pain, Inflammation, Fever and Difficulty of Breathing, and produces a free and easy expectoration. It is sold at wholesale and retail by the Agents, A. B. & D. SANDS, Druggists, No. 72 Fulton-st., corner of Gold-st., and 100 Fulton-st., also sold by David Sands & Co. No. 77 East Broadway, corner of Market-st.; and by Abraham B. Sands & Co. No. 273 Broadway (Granite Building) corner of Chambers-st.

DEAFNESS CURED.—Messrs. Editors: Having seen advertised in your paper and elsewhere, a cure for Deafness, I have suffered myself an unusual anxiety to know more about the medicine, consequently I have made
